Among the early New England colonists there were five persons by the name of Hull, or Hulls, as it was then spelled, who are supposed to be brothers, and came from Derbyshire, England. Their names were John, George, Richard, Joseph and Robert. John Hulls was made freeman by the General Court of Mass. in 1632; was Captain of the Artillery Co.; died in 1670. George Hulls, of Dorchester, Mass., was freeman in 1633; was representative to the Gen'l Assembly; moved to Connecticut and was Ass't Governor of that State in 1637. Richard Hulls was made a freeman in 1634; sold his house in Roxbury to Philip Sherman. in 1637; moved to New Haven, Conn., in 1639. Joseph Hulls of Hingham, was freeman in 1638; representative to Gen'l Assembly of Mass., in 1638-39. The town of Hull, Mass., is said to have been named after him. Robert Hulls, of Boston, was freeman in 1637; he died in 1666: his son John, was freeman in 1649; he was a goldsmith and a highly respected citizen of Boston; his children all died except Hannah, who married Judge Samuel Sewall, Chief Justice of the Province, in 1676. He (John) became Treasurer and master of the Mint, in 1652; he died in 1683, leaving a large estate; when Hannah was married, her father put her on the scales and balanced her weight with silver coin, for her dowry. A Josiah Hull, married Elizabeth Loomis, in 1641; she was daughter of Joseph Loomis—Josiah was deputy to the General Court, in 1659–60–62; he moved to Killingworth, Conn., in 1662: was deputy from that town, in 1667; he died in 1675.

In the Genealogy of the Loomis family, there appear the names of 1150 descendants of Josiah and Elizabeth Loomis Hull.

There is a good deal of information about these families which is not noted in this record, the design being to compile a record of the descendants of Richard Hull only.

The original intention was, to record only the lineal ancestors of Rev. Leverett Hull, for the benefit of his descendants. So much data was obtained of the collateral lines, that it was determined to arrange in as compact a form as possible, all the facts learned about the various lines of Richard's descendants, in order to preserve the same, to assist any one among such descendants, who might wish to write a genealogy of the Hull Family.

The Record though incomplete, represents a great deal of labor and study and is the result of extended examination of town histories, numerous family records and genealogies, and extensive correspondence with descendants of Richard and with town and church clerks in various parts of the country. Some of the parties corresponded with, have lived in Wallingford or Cheshire all their lives and have heard from their parents and grandparents, the family traditions prevailing in those towns.

It has happened in several instances that different birth dates have been given by different authorities, for the same individual. In these cases the dates which have the preponderance of evidence are here given.

The system of numbering is as follows:

Beginning with Richard, the names are all numbered consecutively, his oldest child being numbered 2 and so on. This consecutive number immediately precedes each name, and immediately preceding this consecutive number, appears the number of the father of that person, so that each line can be traced back to Richard by the numbers.

The different families in each generation are separated by a single red line across the page.

1 Richard Hull, of Derbyshire, England, was made freeman in Dorchester, Mass. in 1634. Was in Boston in 1637. Moved to New Haven in 1639, took the oath of fidelity there in 1644. Was representative to the General Court of Conn. He is on record in the New Haven colony as having sold six acres of upland to William Thompson in 1646. Made his will in August, 1662, and died in September, 1662. His wife's name is not known. He moved to New Haven, "because he would not endure puritanism."

1–2 Dr. John, was born in New Haven in 1640. He was a planter in Stratford in 1661, where he lived until 1668. Received grants of land there. Resided in Pawgassett, afterwards called Derby, in 1668. Received grants of land there. Probably did not move his family to Derby until 1675. He was prominent in all town and church matters. He built the first parsonage and meetinghouse in Derby. Was on the building committee and was chief director of the work. He built dwelling houses for himself and sons, also built the first corn and flour mill in Wallingford, Conn. His first wife's name is not known. He married 2nd, Mary Jones in 1672, and married 3rd, Rebecca Turner, on May 13th, 1675. Dr. John Hull and Joseph Hawkins moved in the General Court at Hartford, to have the privilege of a plantation granted to the inhabitants of Pawgassett, there being twelve families settled there and as many more ready to settle. The General Court granted their motion. This plantation of Pawgassett was named by the court, Derby, as some of these first settlers came from Derby a shire town of England, 127 miles from London.

The original twelve settlers of Derby were Edward Wooster, Francis French, Stephen Pierson, John Hull, Joseph Hawkins, Samuel Riggs, Ephraim Smith, Abel Gunn, J. Johnson, Jabez Harger, Ebenezer Johnson and John Tibballs.

In 1677, at a town meeting, the 1st church was organized, and John Hull, John Bowers and Joseph Hawkins signed the petition. Abel Gunn and Joseph Hawkins were appointed to present the petition. A certificate was given these men as their authority, signed by John Hull and Sam'l Riggs. The petition was granted.

In 1687, Dr. John Hull moved to Wallingford. The General Assembly granted him 700 acres of land in this town for services in King Phillip's war. He owned about 1500 acres of land in Wallingford. He was selectman of the town of Derby in 1677–80–83–87, also a member of the General Assembly from Derby. He acquired property with the mill in Derby, all of which he gave to his sons John and Joseph in 1696. He died Dec. 6, 1711.

1–3 Hannah, born in New Haven 1642. Married Edward Dorman

1-4 Jeremiah, was the eldest son of Richard—the date of his birth is not known, and there is no further information found about him, except that he was executor of his fathers will.*

1-5 Mary, married John Jackson.

2-6 Dr. John, born in 1662 at Stratford; married Mary Jacobs; was a farmer: was representative and selectman; lived in Derby; died in 1753.

2-8 Mary, born in 1664; married John Prindle.

2-9 Cap't Joseph, born in Derby 1668; married in 1691, Mary Nichols, daughter of Isaac Nichols; she died in 1733. He then married Hannah (Botsford) Prindle in 1735. She was widow of John Prindle and was his third wife—his first wife having been Mary, daughter of Dr. John Hull. Capt. Joseph was a representative to the General Assembly; had large business interests in Derby; was a captain of the militia. He died in 1744. He was the great great grandfather of Commodore Isaac Hull, who commanded the celebrated frigate "Constitution."

2-10 Dr. Benjamin, was born at Stratford in 1672. In 1693 he married Elizabeth Andrews. She was born in 1674 and died April 27th, 1732. She was daughter of Samuel Andrews and Elizabeth (Peck) Andrews, of

* The names of Richard's children appear on the records in the order given here, but when the copy of Richard's will was obtained, Jeremiah was therein called the oldest. It was then too late to change his number, but this makes no material difference, since none of his descendants (if he had any), are entered in this Record.

New Haven, who were married in 1661. Samuel Andrews was born in England in 1632. He was a son of William Andrews of Hampsworth, England, who came to America in the ship "James" in 1635. He landed in Boston and was freeman there the same year. Was at New Haven with Eaton and Rev. John Davenport. His first wife's name is not known; she was the mother of all his children. His second wife was Anna, widow of William Gibbons, colonial secretary in 1657. William Andrews died in 1676 at East Haven. Samuel Andrews took the oath of fidelity in 1654, and died in 1704. His wife, Elizabeth Peck, was daughter of Deacon William Peck of New Haven, who was born in London, England in 1601 and was a merchant there. He was a representative to the General Assembly in New Haven in 1646. He held many positions of trust and was an influential citizen of New Haven. 34 105 Dr. Zephaniah, born August 15th, 1728 at Wallingford, Conn., now Cheshire, on the land given to Dr. John Hull in 1687. He married at Wallingford, Hannah Doolittle in 1749.* They settled in Bethlehem, Conn. He was a physician and an intimate friend of Dr. Bellamy. Dr. Hull and his wife both died November 10th, 1760, of the "Great Sickness" and were buried in one grave. Two of their children died the same day ——. Soon after these deaths a flock of quail flew over the garden and all fell to the grass: in a few minutes three arose and flew away, the rest died. It is a curious coincidence that only three of all the family who were sick at that time recovered. The sister of Mr. Chas. Hull Clarke, well remembers hearing her grandmother (Lydia Hull Clarke, daughter of Dr. Zephaniah) tell

* Cothren's History of Woodbury and Davis' History of Wallingford, both state that Zephaniah married Hannah Cook. Davis also says that Zephaniah married Hannah Doolittle, and still other authorities assert that Hannah Cook married, not Zephaniah, but Jeremiah Hull. The town records of Wallingford, show that Zephaniah married Hannah Doolittle, and still stronger proof of this is found in the fact that Zephaniah's son Andrew, lived with Moses Doolittle and inherited the latters property, as his grandson, and lived there until he died—and his descendants still live on this property, and they also state that Dr. Zephaniah married Hannah Doolittle.

The following is a copy of an old family paper which was received too late to be bound in this book. This paper is another proof that Dr. Zephaniah married Hannah Doolittle.

"A record of the children of Lieut. Moses Doolittle of Cheshire.

Oldest son, Thomas Doolittle, born February 14th, 1730. Died November, 1760. Married to Lois Hull. Had three daughters: Lois, Lucy and Abigail.

Oldest daughter, Hannah Doolittle, born November 7th, 1732. Married to Dr. Zephaniah Hull, oldest son to Dr. John Hull and his wife Sarah.

Second daughter, Eunice Doolittle, born October 17th, 1734. Married David Hotchkiss, December 25th, 1752, by whom she had 13 children, 6 boys and 7 girls.

Third daughter, Damaris Doolittle, born May 28th, 1736. Married to Benjamin Hall.

Second son, Reuben Doolittle, born April 12th, 1738. Died November, 1760.

Third son, Moses Doolittle, born February 14th, 1743. Died October, 1759, at Lake George, in the French war.

Fourth daughter, Lydia Doolittle, born February 28th, 1746. Married Jeremiah Arnold."

The above was folded and endorsed as follows: "A Record of Moses Doolittles family, taken at Cheshire, June 1st, 1808, by Titus Hull."

this story. Dr. Zephaniah was a man of high character and great influence, both, as a man and as a physician. Hannah, his wife, was born in 1731 and was a daughter of Moses Doolittle and Lydia Richardson, his second wife. Moses was a son of Ebenezer Doolittle and Hannah Hall, his wife. Ebenezer was son of Abraham Doolittle and Abigail Moss, his wife. Abraham was in Massachusetts very early and in New Haven before 1642, and owned a house there. He took the freeman's oath in 1644, and was made chief executive officer of the county. He was chosen to superintend the new settlement (part of New Haven), which was afterwards called Wallingford. He was a member of the Vigilance committee, during King Phillip's war. His house was fortified by a picket-fort. He was deputy several times from New Haven and Wallingford to the General Court, was also selectman. He married in 1663, Abigail Moss. She died in 1710. He died in 1690. Ebenezer Doolittle was born in 1672; married in 1697, Hannah Hall; they resided in Cheshire. He died in 1711. Moses was born in 1702 and died in 1781. Hannah Hall, who married Ebenezer Doolittle, was born in 1673. She was a daughter of Capt. Samuel Hall and Hannah Walker, his wife. Capt. Samuel Hall was born in 1648; married in 1668; died in 1725. He was deputy to General Court, 1698, 1700, 1701, 1705. In 1704 was appointed captain of the "Wallingford Train Band." This band took an active part in the old French and Indian wars. Sam'l was a large land holder in the vicinity of Meriden, Conn. Hannah (Walker) Hall was born in 1646, and was daughter of John and Grace Walker. Samuel Hall was son of John Hall and Jeanne Wollen, his wife. John Hall was born in England in 1605. He married Jeanne in 1641. He was one of the original proprietors of Wallingford and died there in 1676. He held many important civil and military positions. His son Thomas received fifty acres of land for his father's services in the Pequot war, 1637. Jeanne Wollen came from England with the Wilkin's family, who were relatives. She was of good family and well educated. The crest borne by her family is as follows: A demi lion, between its paws, a cushion tasseled. It is supposed that John Hall came to America in the ship "Griffin" in 1633. It is not positively known from what part of England he came, but every indication points to Coventry, Warwick. There is a Hall family living there, many of whom have been physicians, and also many of the Wallingford Halls were physicians. Theodore Parsons Hall, states in his Hall Geneology, that he has seen at Stratford, on Avon, the seal ring with which Dr. John Hall, of that town, married Susanna Shakespeare and that both, Dr. John and Susanna, were buried by the side of the immortal William. The name was originally "De Halle" and was given to those who came from the city of Halle in Saxony. John Hall made his will in 1676. It was as follows: "The testimony of Samuel Street, Samuel Hall and Mary Hall sayeth, that about the time he fell sick, they heard him say and he said to them, that he doubted not of his wife's love and care of his children and therefore would leave and dispose of his whole estate to his wife, not questioning but his children would be satisfied therewith." He and his sons used a coat of arms, described as follows: "Argent on a chevron, sa. between three columbines, stalked and leaved vert.

a mullet of six points or. The crest a Talbot's head erased ppr. The Motto, "Turpiter Desperatur." John Hall and Jeanne Wollen Hall, were the ancestors of Lyman Hall, a signer of the Declaration of Independence and governor of Georgia; also ancestors of Hon. S. H. P. Hall, of Binghampton, N. Y.; also of Rev. Samuel Hall, first pastor of the Cheshire Church; also of Col. Street Hall, an officer of note during the Revolution "the terror of the tories." Hon. N. K. Hall, of Buffalo, is also a descendant of John and Jeanne Wollen Hall.

88-162 Lieut. Joseph, born in Derby in 1750; married for his second wife, widow Nichols, mother of Rev. Charles Nichols; Joseph entered the army in 1776, as Lieut. of Artillery; was taken prisoner at Fort Washington; is said to have shown great gallantry in the defense of this fort; he was not exchanged until 1778; after his exchange he again entered the army. In 1779 he was given command of a flotilla on Long Island Sound, consisting of several old whale boats, fitted out to annoy the enemy as opportunity offered. On one occasion a British armed schooner was lying in the sound; Joseph proposed to go out and take the schooner; that evening 20 men, under his command, embarked in a boat similar to those used in carrying wood—the boat had the appearance of being loaded with wood—as they approached the schooner, the sentry on deck hailed Hull, who was steering; he answered the call but continued his course 'till quite near the schooner, when by a sudden movement, he ran close alongside; all hands sprang aboard the schooner: the British capt. aroused by the firing of the sentries, came on deck and was shot dead. The hatches were fastened down and the schooner conducted in triumph to Derby. "This gallant soldier was the father of Commodore Isaac Hull. He engaged early in life in the West India trade and became familiar with a seaman's life as well as that of a farmer. During his most active career, the whale fishery was carried on in the Sound in open boats, manned by four or six oarsmen, a steersman and a harpooner. This was a most dangerous calling, requiring a high degree of skill and perfect drill and unity of action. In this school his son Isaac took his first lessons in seamanship. One day Isaac was entertaining a party of ladies with a sail on the river, in one of his father's whale boats, when a sudden squall capsized the boat. By almost superhuman effort Isaac succeeded in saving the whole party of eight or ten ladies."

Joseph's coolness and presence of mind as well as fearlessness is shown in the following anecdote: While on his way to New Haven, just as he came to the top of the hill in West Haven, he saw some British officers advancing towards him; turning in his saddle he motioned as if for his company to hasten, and riding forward, commanded the British to surrender, they supposing the enemy to be near at hand, delivered up their swords.

88 163 Gen'l William, born in 1753 at Derby; entered Yale college when 15 years old and graduated in his 20th year; was elected captain of a Derby militia company; he was preparing to join Col. Webb's regiment, when his father died, leaving him considerable property; he refused to take any of it, saying, "I want only my sword and uniform." He joined his regiment at once and marched to Cambridge. The next year the regiment took possession of Brooklyn Heights. Gen'l William was an intimate friend of Capt. Nathan Hale.

At the personal request of Washington, Capt. Hull was made acting field officer during the battle of Trenton and was soon afterward promoted by Gen'l Washington, to be major of the 8th Mass. He was also engaged in the battle of Princeton and many of the most important battles of the war; was promoted very rapidly for bravery and effective service. He held many positions of trust after the war. In 1776, he was appointed Major-General of Massachusetts militia; in 1805, was appointed governor of Michigan and held that office until 1812, when he was appointed to command the Northwestern army. He was greatly censured for the surrender of Detroit and after a court martial, was condemned to death. The sentence was withdrawn by the President on account of "Gen'l Hull's brilliant services during the war of the Revolution." Gen'l Hull claimed, that the blame for the surrender did not attach to him, but to the authorities at Washington. His personal papers and effects had been lost or destroyed and he was not able to prove his assertions until twelve years later, when he obtained access to the papers and records of the War Department at Washington. These showed plainly that he had been the victim of a series of misunderstandings and complications arising from incompetency at Washington. He published an account of the campaign, viewed in the new light of these records, and was fully vindicated and received a tardy recognition from the government. Happily, he lived long enough to know that he had been completely exonerated, and to enjoy the consideration due to his valuable services.

He married Sarah Fuller, of Newton, Mass. He died in 1825, November 25th. His wife died in 1826. She was born in 1759 and was a daughter of Judge Abraham Fuller and Sarah (Dyer) Fuller. Abraham was a son of Lieut. Joseph Fuller and Sarah (Jackson) Fuller. Lieut. Joseph was a son of Joseph Fuller, born in 1652, and Lydia (Jackson) Fuller. Lydia Jackson was daughter of Edward Jackson and Elizabeth Newgate, his wife, a daughter of John Newgate, who was the son of Philip Newgate who married Joan de Hoo. The latter was a lineal descendant of Alexander de Hoo, the Crusader, who married Devorgilda, daughter of King Alexander II, of Scotland, a descendant of Alfred the Great of England.

This last Benjamin was the person with whom Dr. John Hull exchanged places in 1687, Dr. Hull moving to Wallingford and Dr. Lewis to Stratford. When Andrew was six years old his parents, Dr. Zephaniah and Hannah Hull, both died, and he was carried on horseback from Bethlehem to Wallingford by his grandfather, Moses Doolittle, with whom he lived until Mr. Doolittle died. Andrew came into possession of the Doolittle property and lived there until his death in 1824. Naomi died in 1824. The place was then known as the Parish of New Cheshire in the Town of Wallingford. In 1780 Cheshire was set off as a separate town. Andrew was sent to the legislature for thirty-six different sessions and nineteen different years, from 1788 to 1815. He was First Selectman for many years; was Justice of the town and held many other offices of trust. He was a man of great independence, prompt action and decision of character.

He was first Judge of the County of Alleghany for five years. He held many other offices of trust and honor; was Postmaster under four administrations. He married in 1818, Betsy Morse, at Eaton, N. Y. She was born at Sherborn, Mass., in 1792 and died at Williamsport, Penn., in 1876. Andrew died at the same place and in the same year.

197 304 Rev. Leverett, born at Bethlehem, Conn., Dec. 3, 1796; graduated at Hamilton College in 1824 and at Auburn Theological Seminary: held several pastorates in New York State: moved to Sandusky, Ohio, in 1844: died there in 1852. In conjunction with Dr. Eben Lane he established the first Teachers Institute in Ohio. He married, 1st, Julia Scoville. She died and he married, 2d, in 1830, Sarah Lord, of Rome, N. Y. She was the only daughter of Zelotis Lord and Sallie Farnham, his wife, and granddaughter of Solomon Lord, of Windham, Conn., and Miriam Coleman, his wife. Solomon Lord was a soldier in the 4th Regt. Connecticut Line during the Revolution. (See official records of Connecticut in the Revolution.)

Sallie Farnham was a daughter of Capt. John and Elizabeth (Chapman) Farnham. He was probably in the Revolutionary Army. Sallie was living in Hebron, Conn., with her sister, Mrs. Peters, when she married Zelotis Lord. This sister, Elizabeth, was the wife of Judge John T. Peters, of Hartford, Conn. They were the parents of Abigail Peters, who married Rev. Dr. C. B. Treat, for many years Secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions. One son, Rev. Charles Treat, now resides in New York City. Miriam Coleman, wife of Solomon Lord, was a daughter of Gersham Coleman, of Coventry, Conn., and Mercy Allis, his wife.

Rev. Leverett intended to go into mercantile life and would have done so, under most favorable circumstances. While waiting for the time when he was to enter upon his business life he was teaching near Lyons, N. Y., and entered into this work with the earnestness of purpose which was one of his most marked characteristics. During this period he altered his plans and studied for the ministry. After moving to Sandusky he was obliged to give up preaching on account of ill health, and was appointed agent of the American Board of Foreign Missions, and afterwards agent of the Bethel Cause. He was especially gifted as a preacher, being a fine elocutionist, tall and erect in person, having an earnest and impressive manner and at the same time was filled with love and enthusiasm for his work. After his death Mrs. Hull moved to Cincinnati and lived with her sons. She was a woman of unusual attainments and very marked character. She had a very wide circle of friends in many parts of the country and was greatly beloved by all. She died March 3, 1893, at Maryville, East Tennessee.
